Reviewer's report:

Thank you for the opportunity to review the revised version of the manuscripts. The authors have done a thorough job of addressing my comments and I think the article now offers a solid contribution to the literature. Per my comments (and those of other reviewers), the authors have separated the results and discussions sections- thank you. However, I might suggest adding a few additional lines of text summarizing each sub-section of results, rather than simply including participant quotes. Summarizing the themes emerging in each sub-section of quotes will help the reader understand the key takeaways and be better prepared to internalize the discussion section.
