Title: Comparative efficacy and safety of second-line treatments for advanced non-small-cell lung cancer with wild-type or unknown status for epidermal growth factor receptor: a systematic review and network meta-analyses

Reviewer's report:

It is inappropriate to present results for the first time in the discussion section. It is also misleading to hide the fact that the difference in survival among treatments is a month or so. I would put these results in the results section. You can say that it is an illustrative example of showing the absolute effect (this way you won’t be criticized for not doing this for all the comparisons). I would also mention that in the abstract. No need to hide what is arguably the most important information, for a patient, at the end of the discussion section which no one will read.
