Title: Young adults' attitudes to sharing whole-genome sequencing information: a University-based survey

Version: 0 Date: 19 Sep 2018

Reviewer: Cathryn Koptiuch

Reviewer’s report:

This paper needs to be reviewed carefully for sentence structure, word choice and grammar errors. There are too many instances of error to list. Awkward sentence structures make interpreting the author's ideas cumbersome and sometimes impossible. These issues make the paper terribly difficult to read and especially difficult to edit.

Additionally:

- Some results are included in the methods section.
- Superfluous information included throughout paper.
- I'm left wondering: What are the potential impacts of these findings? Why should readers care? Include in discussion.
