Version: 0 Date: 01 May 2017

Reviewer: Kazushi Okamoto

Reviewer’s report:

Although food sustainability, sustainable diet and food choice motives were sequentially used in Introduction, you concretely establish the relationship among those terms.

Why is it necessary to explain food choice motives and dietary intake?

What is the difference between food choice motives and sustainable food choice motives?

You should examine the representativeness of internet-using adult volunteers for the total of French population.

What is the reason that you compared food choice dimension between sexes in Table 2?

Moreover, why did you conduct factor-analysis in men and women together, although you showed sex differences in Table 2? Did you conduct factor-analysis by sex?

However, you examined dietary pattern by sex in Table 3 and 4. So, was there sex differences in dietary pattern?

You should confirm sex difference in dietary pattern and re-examine sex difference in the relationship between sustainable food choice motives.
