Reviewer’s report

Title: Nutritional quality of meals and snacks assessed by the Food Standards Agency nutrient profiling system in relation to overall diet quality, body mass index, and waist circumference in British adults

Version: 1 Date: 23 Aug 2017

Reviewer: Rebecca Leech

Reviewer’s report:

The authors should be commended on the revisions made to the manuscript which have made it clearer and more informative for the reader. I have no further major comments to add, but ask that the authors clarify the use of the word "reasonable" to describe associations on line 367 of the discussion. By reasonable, do you mean "modest"? If so, perhaps replacing "reasonable" with "modest but significant" associations would be clearer here?
