Reviewer's report:

Thank you for your thoughtful responses to my comments. The readability of this paper has much improved. I appreciate the introduction to the cultural context of your study and the ways in which food intake has transitioned from a traditional diet to a more Westernized diet and the impact of that transition on health. Your explanations of the relevance of the discussion points made sense and the statements tying these points back to the purpose and hypotheses of your paper were helpful. Your revised conclusion is strong and ties the paper together well.
