Title: Prenatal Exposure to Extremely Low Frequency Magnetic Field and its Impact on fetal growth

Version: 0 Date: 29 Oct 2018

Reviewer: I. Udroiu

Reviewer’s report:

The article is written in a simple and concise manner. The reader can easily go through and understand the aims and findings.

The authors stated that when testing statistical associations, they adjusted for potential confounders (age, parity, etc.). Can the authors describe the way this adjustment was made?

Moreover, the difference of magnetic field exposure is statistically significant between different age groups. Can the authors give stratified analyses (like they for boy/girls) for different maternal age groups?

Finally, I do not know the journal policy on datasets, but probably it would be better to have them as supplementary material, and not "available on reasonable request"
