Title: The feasibility study of transnasopharyngeal esophagus echocardiography in the ultrasonic diagnosis

Version: 0 Date: 23 Dec 2018

Reviewer: Ines Monte

Reviewer’s report:

The Authors propose the results related to the use of transnasopharyngeal echocardiography, using a small probe.

The work is well done, the methodological approach is good. Authors analyze the advantages and disadvantages of the technique compared to the traditional transesophageal echocardiography. They report a success rate in less than 50% (49.5) of the patients examined.

The technique seems to be applicable to a limited number of patients and the authors themselves define indications and contraindications. The Authors should expand the sample to be sure of the feasibility
