Title: Is there a financial incentive to immigrate? Examining of the health worker salary gap between India and popular destination countries

Reviewer's report:

The article is informative but I believe it can be strengthened by explaining what is meant by 'unqualified providers'.

There is a lot of information in the tables that has not been explained in the results or discussion. The impact of experience and specialty in the comparison countries should be elaborated on. Supply and demand in each country has a significant impact on salaries. This could be discussed more fully.

It would also be useful to make sure that the data being used is the latest available.

A discussion of the impact of gross and net salaries on the analysis will also be useful.

In Canada the majority of physicians are independent contractors who have their own practices and must pay for the overheads related to running them.

I believe a short paragraph suggesting a line of continued research would be useful.
