Title: Capacity building of the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Health Researcher Workforce: A narrative review

Version: 0 Date: 09 Jun 2018

Reviewer: Fiona Pacey

Reviewer’s report:

I enjoyed reading this paper, and found it informative and in particular, sufficient in detail to contribute to others' interested in exploring specific elements but also in presenting a coherent representation of funding investment and outcomes.

It was appreciated that the impetus for the study was included, and this enhances an understanding of the study design.

1 minor note, in some instances, database is mis-typed as 'data base'.

Thinking about the international audience of this journal, it may assist readers if some reference to Australia was included in the abstract.

Likewise, for that audience - recognising the inclusion of global gaps/opportunities in Table 5 and page 12, whether some consideration of the application of these study findings to others may be an enhancement to the article and its publication in this journal.
