Title: Integrating consumer engagement in health and medical research - an Australian framework

Version: 0 Date: 02 Sep 2016

Reviewer: Carla Saunders

Reviewer's report:

This work is an important contribution to an under-studied and under-appreciated field of inquiry, which has the potential to improve health and well-being through greater levels of community needs targeted health and medical research.

I have provided several suggestions (as comments in the text) that I feel may support author arguments and provide further clarity for the final version.

Thank you for this generous contribution of effort and time to this important field.
