Title: The place of learning in a UHC health policy process: the case of the RAMED policy in Morocco

Version: 0 Date: 23 Dec 2018

Reviewer: Bhupinder Aulakh

Reviewer's report:

The article talks about the importance of organizational learning capacity in the process of formulation, implementation and evaluation of UHC. It does cover important aspects of role of political leadership by forming inter-ministerial committees and group decision making for the success of the program and the lack of financial powers at the local level as the hindering factor. However, the article needs correction of grammar mistakes that are glaring on page 8, line 57; page 11, line 45-48; page 12 line 15-16; page 13, 14, 17, 18, 20 and 21. There is repetition at many places.

On a broader aspect, the article has captured the real processes in launching and implementing any program but it does not give any lessons as to how the sustained organization learning is possible. Lack of financial resources, lack of autonomy at local level is a known fact, but what needs to be done to address these organizational issues needs attention.
