Reviewer's report:

Very interesting article, I just have few questions:

What is the power of analysis used in this article qualitative thematic analysis over using N-vivo software

So, as I understood that because the UK government closed the sustainable development commission then the Welsh took the action in promoting or adopting the WFG Wales Act. So why the Welsh didn't take action in participating or promoting a better act despite the presence of the UK Development commission and before the suspension of the development commission? I think this should be elaborated upon a bit in the text.

How long they anticipate that this Wales Act will sustain for how many years, and does it evolve with time or needed to be rectified every 5 to 10 years?
