Reviewer’s report

Title: Determinants of adolescent pregnancy in sub Saharan Africa. A systematic review.

Version: 0 Date: 14 Dec 2017

Reviewer: Sonja Caffe

Reviewer’s report:

It is not clear whether the papers reviewed were only from studies in Sub-Saharan Africa, or worldwide. There is some contradictory information in the paper on this issue

- The factors identified are not necessarily specific to sub-Saharan Africa, they are global. What would be specific to this subregion?

- While the analysis lists various factors related to adolescent pregnancy, in the abstract and conclusion the authors only select a few to emphasize. Based on what did they select these? Is there any info on the strength of the associations they found between the various factors and adolescent pregnancy? Are they all equally important?

Recommendation: the paper should be revised before being considered for publication.
