Title: Qualitative Evaluation of the Saleema Campaign to Eliminate Female Genital Mutilation and Cutting in Sudan

Version: 0 Date: 13 Dec 2017

Reviewer: Adelaide McClintock

Reviewer's report:

I don't have much to add here. I think the study was well designed, the data appropriately analyzed and the findings of interest. My only concern is that the data are potentially limited in application. Though FGC is a widespread practice, with some similarities in reasons for its persistence, the campaign was quite local and findings may not be generalizable to areas outside of Sudan, or in areas that don't use the same vocabulary/speak the same language.
