Title: Domestic violence related disclosure among women and girls in Ethiopia: A systematic review and meta-analysis

Version: 0 Date: 10 Oct 2019

Reviewer's report:

This is an important article because domestic violence is worldwide a common public health problem and it is essential to identify this magnitude in order to establish the basis for prevention, control and treatment of the adverse effects. In patriarchal societies women and girls are predominantly victims of this form of violence that deserves to be well studied. This was a well conducted systematic review but I wonder why you only studied non disclosure of violence as the outcome variable. With a significant number of studies I think other outcomes could be incorporated to the meta-analysis. Does this systematic review has a protocol? Did you planned to study several outcomes and this was the only possible? Please justify. And I do recommend to use GRADE because it is a better tool to rating the certainty of evidence in systematic reviews.
