Title: Implementation strategies to improve cervical cancer prevention in sub-Saharan Africa: a systematic review

Version: 1 Date: 15 Jan 2018

Reviewer: Andrew Booth

Reviewer's report:

The Authors are to be commended for systematically tackling both methodological shortcomings and a lack of detail in reporting. In my view this is a greatly superior version of the previous manuscript. In particular the explicit articulation of the Framework used and its seven included categories not only makes the Methods more transparent but clearly locates the article within the purview of the Implementation Science journal. So authors have tackled rigour and relevance simultaneously!

I have systematically checked all reviewer comments and author responses and have nothing further to add in the way of suggested improvements.
