Title: Intimal Spindle Cell Sarcoma Masquerading as Adult-Onset Symptomatic Pulmonic Stenosis: A Case Report and Review of the Literature

Version: 0 Date: 24 Sep 2017

Reviewer: Bahaaldin Alsoufi

Reviewer's report:

Thank you for providing me with the case report to review. Similar to previous published reports of pulmonary artery sarcoma, the diagnosis was initially missed and confused with pulmonary valve stenosis (In most other reports, the confusion is actually with a pulmonary emboli), and therefore the appropriate therapy was delayed. The correct diagnosis was eventually made and the proper surgical treatment was offered. The prognosis is naturally poor however the report lacks clinical follow up on this patient.

The strengths of the submission: interesting, good images, well written and decently discussed.

Weaknesses: similar presentation to numerous previously published reports with no new information offered.

Recommendation: I will trust the judgement of the editor on the priority to publish this case report. This is a very straightforward presentation and I don’t have any question to the authors.
