Title: Supraclavicular Subclavian Access for Sapien Transcatheter Aortic Valve Replacement - a Novel Approach

Version: 0 Date: 02 Jan 2018

Reviewer: Torsten Christ

Reviewer’s report:

Dear author,

Thank you very much for that very interesting manuscript. It is very important to consider new access-points to the field of TAVI. I have only few remarks:

1. The sentence: "The use of this approach resulted in successful implantation in 100% of patients in a safe manner with 0% mortality, 0% stroke, and 0% vascular injury during hospitalization and at 30 day follow-up." sound awkward due to those many "0%"s. Consider a revision.

2. Figure 3 and 4 offer nothing new. Consider to include a figure of a trans-axillary approach to demonstrate the differences. Or use a video.

Yours sincerely
