Title: Primary cardiac synovial sarcoma that was continuous with the mitral valve caused severe thrombocytopenia: a case report

Version: 0 Date: 11 Dec 2018

Reviewer: A El-Gamel

Reviewer's report:

Thrombocytopenia is a frequent complication of cancer and its treatment. The causes of thrombocytopenia in cancer patients can be diverse and multifactorial. Additional causes of significant thrombocytopenia include tumor involvement of bone marrow and spleen; microangiopathic disorders such as disseminated intravascular coagulation, thrombotic thrombocytopenic purpura or hemolytic uremia syndrome. Lymphoproliferative malignancies can also be associated with secondary immune thrombocytopenia. Due to the broad differential diagnosis associated with cancer related thrombocytopenia, a careful diagnostic evaluation is indicated. consumption is not uncommon with sarcoma, lack of response to steroid therapy is not a proof that it is not immunologically mediated as some times more powerfull immunosuppressive therapy is required
