Title: Wine cup stoma anastomosis after extended sleeve lobectomy for central-type squamous cell lung cancer: a case report

Version: 0  Date: 14 Jan 2019

Reviewer: Gregor Kocher

Reviewer’s report:

The authors report an interesting case of bronchial sleeve resection with a special technique for anastomosis. Although the technique is not new, the topic is important and 'refreshing' such techniques is usually interesting for the readers.

Major revisions:

The histopathology image (4) does not really add anything to the case report and should therefore be omitted. Instead, a schematic picture of the anastomosis technique (wine cup stoma) is essential for understanding the whole case report - this should be added to the article.

Minor revisions:

There are some minor language/spelling errors - please check manuscript.

Examples:

-Abstract: under Conclusions: 'Herein' instead of 'Here'

-Discussion and Conclusion, Page 6, lines 24/25 - omit 'being' (it should just say 'using' instead of 'being using')

-References: Ref 15: 'pneumonectomy' instead of 'pneumonictomy'

All in all an interesting read - once the authors can add a schematic drawing/picture of the technique (wine cup stoma) and correct the few minor spelling/language errors, the paper is well worth publishing!
