Reviewer’s report:

I would like to congratulate the authors for their work. The authors have presented a case of Esophageal adenocarcinoma with leukemoid reaction under the title of (Esophageal adenocarcinoma with leukemoid reaction: Case report and literature review). They well presented the case clinically however, there are some English mistakes should be revised.

The leukocytosis is a well known condition that can be encountered with different tumors in the body, moreover, it has been reported with squamous cell esophageal carcinoma and was linked to prognosis and outcome. I think authors should mention this clearly in their manuscript.

Moreover, there is no systematic review of literature concerning the subject hence the title should be a case report and eliminate the review of literature to be more precise.

Finally, concerning the references, authors should revise them as the authors in the section of discussion referred to Ganger et al by number (16) and reference number (16) at the order of references referred to HurtadoCordovi J.
