Title: Removal of tumor thrombus from the azygos vein in an esophageal squamous cell carcinoma patient

Version: 0 Date: 31 Jan 2020

Reviewer: Zhenguang Chen

Reviewer’s report:

According to description in the paper, the author presented a case of esophageal squamous cell carcinoma accompanied by tumor thrombus in the arch of azygos vein and underwent radical operation after neoadjuvant chemotherapy. However, there are some doubts which must be clarified. 1. The authors should proof-read the manuscript to minimize typographical, grammatical, and syntax errors and checked all abbreviations which are defined. This paper is also proofread by native English professionals with science background. 2. Most importantly, the author should analyze the occurrence reoported in previous literature regarding the tumor thrombus in superior vena cava or azygos vein on ESCC patients.
