Title: Thyroid storm after coronary artery bypass surgery: A case report

Version: 0 Date: 28 Jun 2019

Reviewer: Mathias Aazami

Reviewer's report:

the authors report on a rare case of thyroid storm after CABG.

the numerous Rx may not be of great interests.

as the authors have enough time prior to CABG, should they discuss the utility of plasmapheresis?

why the authors discontinued abruptly esmolol and steroid and did not proceed to beta blocker maintenance? please discuss when suspecting sick sinus syndrome despite thyrotoxicosis, why the authors did not discuss utility of implanting epicardial peace maker lead? please discuss should one check thyroid markers in the ICU?

I agree to consider manuscript publication after minor revision.

regards
