Reviewer's report:

It is a great honor to be able to review this article and have been receiving attention for perioperative anticoagulation for other non-cardiac surgery after mechanical valve replacement. You have done a single-center, prospective study. This is some questions.

1. For perioperative anticoagulation, there are already guidelines and many meta-analyses that have been separately explained. What is the latest conclusion of your research?

2. The sentence in the article still needs to be modified by the native English expert.
