Reviewer's report:

I have read with interest the manuscript entitled "Rosai-Dorfman Disease with Pulmonary Involvement Mimicking Bronchogenic Carcinoma." It is an interesting and well-written case report.

I would like to mention herewith some observations and think that would make it better for understanding-

1. At many places, the new para or sentence starts with abbreviations (RDD, for example). This need correction.

2. Minor grammar correction (example, page 7 line 1 - many cases of RDD undergoes......)

3. Most of the references have abbreviation 'et al'. I think, full list of authors is required.

4. Figure 2- The pictures are labelled as A, B and C but the description (legend) describes A, C and D?

5. In the surgical management- The tumour was near the carina. In the absence of conclusive evidence of a benign pathology at the time of surgery, what considerations were given in case, if it was a malignant pathology. For example, frozen section, lobar resections or lobectomy was considered? Can author elaborate "tumour excision? How the intra luminal growth excision was achieved surgically?

6. A post operative chest x ray or CT finding as a follow up will be of reader's interest.
