Please amend the below as this comment has not been addressed.

Table 1 - it is unclear what the * means, the symbols need to align with the current key that you have. There is a key at the bottom of the table indicating the meaning of the *

The above comment has not been addressed as the key symbol does not match the symbol in the table, if you are using a * in the table beside numbers, the * should appear in the key currently this is not the case as the key would appear have a dot and not a *.
