Title: Retrospective review of outcomes in patients with DNA-damage repair related pancreatic cancer

Version: 0 Date: 15 May 2020

Reviewer: Pål Møller

Reviewer’s report:

This is a clear-cut story and interesting if true. Problem is that there is no validation that the few pancreatic cancer cases with long survival actually had pancreatic cancer. Which may seem improbable for a sporadic pc patient, but not so when each of them had high probability for cancers in other organs which may have spread and looked like pc.
