Title: Group plus "Mini-private" Pre-test Genetic Counseling Sessions for Hereditary Cancer Predisposition Improve Patient Satisfaction and Shorten Provider Time

Reviewer's report:

thank you for publishing this QA project as in the current climate of overwelmed genetic services this is reassuring the limitations are well described and make it difficult to be certain of the extent of the effect. The risk that the nonresponders were less happy with the service is real but you did address that in the publication a more formal assessment of decliners and the nonresponders while they would be nice are very difficult to do in a QA exercise.

I complement the authors for taking the time to write up there findings and thus add to the existing literature

A formal evaluation of the implementation phase would be incredibly helpful to the field.
