Reviewer's report:

Thanks for inviting me to review this manuscript. This is a well written protocol for a randomized controlled trial. All details of study is explained. Some minor point needs to be considered. In line 109-110: it is better to explain the limitation of previous studies which leads to importance of present study. If low sample size is the only point, it is better for reader to have some information about that. Line 118-121: please provide citation. In randomization section, why stratification is implemented by sites? In calculating sample size, it is better to consider MCID approach too.
