Title: Life-threatening pleural haemorrhage following intrapleural enzyme therapy and successful treatment with fibrin-thrombin sealant pleurodesis: a case report

Version: 0 Date: 16 Oct 2015

Reviewer: Leanne Harling

Reviewer’s report:

This is a well written case report in a relevant topic of interest in Thoracic Surgery.

A thorough literature review has been performed and is described in the main body of the introduction and discussion.

The report appears to be original in the field and present a novel use of fibrin thrombin sealant in this instance.

I would therefore recommend the manuscript for publication. It could be improved slightly by summarising the clinical laboratory findings more concisely and also by adding a table summarising the findings of the literature review if the editor feels this is appropriate.
