Title: Ureter metastatic castration resistant prostate cancer: A case report

Version: 0 Date: 06 May 2017

Reviewer: Francisco La Rosa

Reviewer’s report:

I have reviewed this article reporting a relatively rare metastatic location of prostate cancer; a moderate number of 44 cases have been reported, according to these authors. The article is of moderate interest and could be acceptable for publication, although it has a very limited bibliographic review. Unless the editorial has a limit in the number of references, these have to be exhaustively considered, or at least the most relevant and recent literature should be included. In addition, the English is very poor, there are many orthographic errors and it requires to be rewritten by someone with native English and good medical background.
