Reviewer's report:
This paper is a case report that focuses on Kikuchi Fujimoto Disease. Although the topic is interesting; the presentation of the case was poor. The pathologic diagnosis is important in Kikuchi Fujimoto Disease, however there is no pathological image in this case report. The paper does not meet the restrictive criteria regarding the unique scientific or educational value, which impact and enhance clinical practice or diagnostic understanding. Unfortunately this paper is not suitable to be published in Journal of Medical Case Reports.
