Reviewer’s report

Title: Interesting case of an aggressive fibromatosis in the infra-temporal fossa presenting as trismus

Version: 0 Date: 18 Oct 2017

Reviewer: stefania erra

Reviewer’s report:

1. Do you believe the case report is authentic?
   Yes/No
   Yes

2. Do you have any ethical concerns? Please consider if local Institutional Review Board approval or ethical approval was obtained (if appropriate) and if the patient (or their parent or guardian in the case of children under 18) gave written, informed consent to publish this case and any accompanying images. A statement to this effect should appear in the manuscript.

   Comments: I think that the patient have been correctly informed

3. Does the Introduction explain the relevance of the case to the medical literature?
   Yes/No
   Yes

4. Does the article report the following information? Where information is missing, please specify.

   a. The relevant patient information, including:

      - De-identified demographic information (age, gender, ethnicity)
      - Main symptoms of the patient
      - Medical, family and psychosocial history
      - Relevant past interventions and their outcomes
b. The relevant physical examination findings

c. Important dates and times in this case (if appropriate, organized as a timeline via a figure or table); if specific dates could lead to patient identification, consider including time relevant to initial presentation, i.e. initial presentation at T = 0, follow up at T = 1 month.

d. Diagnostic assessments, including:
   - Diagnostic methods
   - Challenges (e.g., financial, language/cultural)
   - Reasoning and prognostic characteristics (e.g., staging), where applicable

e. Types and mechanism of intervention

f. A summary of the clinical course of all follow-up visits

Comments: the authors report in a satisfactory way all the steps for a good differential diagnosis and correct clinical management of the case.

5. Is the interpretation (discussion and conclusion) well balanced and supported by the case presented?

Comments: conclusions are well structured, but I think that histopathological diagnosis could have been on the basis of cellular morphology and of some characteristics of extracellular matrix, that pathologists can determine on the basis of special histochemical stains. Only few immunohistochemical determinations are really useful, such as proliferation index and s100 protein. Other determinations used are not important for a really good differential diagnosis with other similar lesions of sarcomatous origin, so authors can not mention regarding them.

6. Is the anonymity of the patient protected? Please consider any identifying information in images such as facial features or nametags, whether the patient is named etc. If not, please detail below.

Yes/No

Yes

7. Is the Abstract representative of the case presented?

Comments:
Yes, the abstract is very clear.

8. Does the case represent a useful contribution to the medical literature?

Comments:

The case reported is very useful to the medical world.

9. Additional comments for the author(s)?
