Engaging older adults in self-management talk in healthcare encounters: A systematic review protocol

Reviewer: Frans Derksen.

Abstract: a clear summary of the protocol

Background: a clear description of the research field. Sometimes it is not clear if the aspects are author's opinions or if they describe other study results. Marking this would improve the text. The aim is described in the first part of the method section, perhaps a better place at the end of the background section.

Method: no comments. An extensively described design of the study
