Title: Insights on dying, dementia and death certificates

Version: 0 Date: 01 Jan 2018

Reviewer: Pankaj Bhardwaj

Reviewer's report:

The problem identified in the article is very relevant in current time. But there are few suggestions/queries/comments which are needed to be addressed

1. The title of the article and the recommendations there after are not aligned. There seems to be a mismatch.

2. Article completely confuse the readers what is the purpose? Whether Dementia or Quality of Death Certificates?

3. The statements mentioned in the article, "Seems near to impossible" cannot be considered Scientific.

4. There is nowhere mention in methodology that the perception of users about the difficulty in filling the form was taken, so how the statement is given that there are difficulties in filling and understanding the form. A qualitative component should be used for reaching to such conclusion.

5. There is a huge need of refining language.

Thanks
