Comments per section of the manuscript

General comment: Potentially acceptable for publication

Introduction: Paragraph three of the introduction more of stating that the family planning issues including unmet need is clearly explained. This in turn raises a concern of why your study is necessary because the problem is already known by GDHS. So, in this regard rather than doing further study/research it will be better to work towards the identified problems.

Methodology: The inclusion and exclusion criteria is not reader friendly. How and why the data manipulation was done.
