Title: The developmental relationship between language and motor performance from 3 to 5 years of age: A prospective longitudinal population study

Version: 2 Date: 18 April 2013

Reviewer: Jan Patricia P Piek

Reviewer’s report:

This is an excellent study and I have no revisions to recommend. There is one major limitation which the authors comment on, namely the inability to assess language and motor development through performance tests. However, given the size of the sample this would not be feasible. I congratulate the authors on a much needed and well presented study.
