Reviewer's report

Title: Use of a trigger tool to detect adverse drug reactions in an emergency department

Version: 1 Date: 13 Jun 2017

Reviewer: Emanuel Raschi

Reviewer's report:

The authors addressed the majority of previously-raised issues. My remaining concern regards the conclusion, which cannot be firmly drawn from the data. The authors should consider to modify the conclusion, at least in the abstract, to better convey the aim of the study (i.e., to estimate prevalence of ADR instead of assessing actual usefulness of the trigger tool, which is a future perspective and requires a different study design).

Are the methods appropriate and well described?
If not, please specify what is required in your comments to the authors.

Yes

Does the work include the necessary controls?
If not, please specify which controls are required in your comments to the authors.

Unable to assess

Are the conclusions drawn adequately supported by the data shown?
If not, please explain in your comments to the authors.

No

Are you able to assess any statistics in the manuscript or would you recommend an additional statistical review?
If an additional statistical review is recommended, please specify what aspects require further assessment in your comments to the editors.
