Reviewer's report:

I appreciate the efforts the authors made to improve the manuscript based on comments provided earlier. However, the current version of the manuscript still appears a "condensed thesis" in instead of a "scientific piece". All sections (introduction, methods, results, discussion & conclusion, also references) would benefit from the authors careful review to fine tune and highlight key messages of their work. I encourage authors to seek some writing help/language editing to produce a more publishable version of the manuscript.
