Reviewer’s report

Title: A feasibility study of a theory-based intervention to improve appropriate polypharmacy for older people in primary care

Version: 0 Date: 16 May 2017

Reviewer: Li Feng Tan

Reviewer’s report:

This is a fair article on an interesting topic - polypharmacy in older adults and the use of a novel means to reduce this. Addressing this issue in General Practice is important.

It would be good for the authors to explain why convenience sampling was used and this certainly affects the interpretation/applicability of the results. However I do note that this is a pilot study and perhaps a larger scale replication study would be more rigorous.

Video education tools are useful but I'm not certain what the likelihood that other practices would take this up is.

Level of interest

Please indicate how interesting you found the manuscript:

An article whose findings are important to those with closely related research interests

Quality of written English

Please indicate the quality of language in the manuscript:

Acceptable

Declaration of competing interests

Please complete a declaration of competing interests, considering the following questions:

1. Have you in the past five years received reimbursements, fees, funding, or salary from an organisation that may in any way gain or lose financially from the publication of this manuscript, either now or in the future?

2. Do you hold any stocks or shares in an organisation that may in any way gain or lose financially from the publication of this manuscript, either now or in the future?

3. Do you hold or are you currently applying for any patents relating to the content of the manuscript?

4. Have you received reimbursements, fees, funding, or salary from an organization that holds or has applied for patents relating to the content of the manuscript?
5. Do you have any other financial competing interests?

6. Do you have any non-financial competing interests in relation to this paper?

If you can answer no to all of the above, write 'I declare that I have no competing interests' below. If your reply is yes to any, please give details below.

I declare that I have no competing interests.

I agree to the open peer review policy of the journal. I understand that my name will be included on my report to the authors and, if the manuscript is accepted for publication, my named report including any attachments I upload will be posted on the website along with the authors' responses. I agree for my report to be made available under an Open Access Creative Commons CC-BY license (http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/4.0/). I understand that any comments which I do not wish to be included in my named report can be included as confidential comments to the editors, which will not be published.

I agree to the open peer review policy of the journal