Title: Adolescents and health-related behaviour: using a framework to develop interventions to support positive behaviours

Version: 0 Date: 08 Feb 2018

Reviewer: Colin Ridyard

Reviewer’s report:

A really good article. One small point would be to include examples and/or references in the lines below:

Page 8 line 30 "In addition, we also aimed to take into consideration the specific neurological changes that happen during adolescence..." perhaps insert a couple of examples here of specific neurological changes

Page 16 line 38 "Their assistance may be vital to pupils, especially in challenging situations..." perhaps insert a couple of examples of perceived challenging situation
