Reviewer’s report

Title: A pilot study of the duration of GP consultations in Ireland

Version: 0 Date: 02 Sep 2019

Reviewer: Chris Newby

Reviewer's report:

A good paper around the automated collection of the amount of time taken on GP visits. This will be very useful for people wanting to routine data for health studies and those wanting to do Health Economic analysis. The graph seems a little blurry to me and I think that a better copy may be needed. In Table 2 for practice c I think that the p-value should be a less than sign rather than a greater than sign.
