Thank you to the authors for their submission.

Comments:

Major:

In this paper, the authors discussed the design and process of developing a mass media resource for parents of primary school children. Here are my major concerns about the paper:

- From Figure 2, it seems the authors used a mixed-method approach to develop this resource. However, this paper is not reflective of mixed-method approach as they mainly focused on qualitative part. The detail description of both qualitative and quantitative approaches and how these two approaches combined and helped to develop this resource need to be added.

- From method section it is not clear which subsection belong to which step or phase. Each subsection with step or subheading name would make it easier for readers to understand the process better.

Minor:

Abstract:

Method: A little description about the participants and methods used for data collection need to be added.

Main body:

Results:

Line 205/206: It looks odd in this manuscript. The authors can briefly discuss the findings.
Overall:

I think this is a well written manuscript. However it requires the revisions recommended here to be accepted.
