Title: Using Qualitative Health Research Methods to Improve Patient and Public Involvement and Engagement in Research

Version: 0 Date: 17 Jul 2018

Reviewer’s report:

Great paper with interesting twist to join knowledge and experience from various fields to improve patient engagement in research. I think the same can be extended to patient participation in various committees and working groups. I completely agree with the perspective and think that the topic is well covered and sources are sufficient. Hope to see this disseminated to patient organizations and included in research protocols soon :)

NB! There are some references that need to be checked. For several internet sources the Last accessed information is not included, but #17 is misspelled, #54 lacks date, #56 - doi mentioned twice.
