Reviewer’s report

Title: Ranking major and minor research misbehaviors: results from a survey among participants of four World Conferences on Research Integrity

Version: 1 Date: 21 Oct 2016

Reviewer: Grace Kissling

Reviewer's report:

According to a footnote for Table 2, 35% of the 227 respondents did not provide characteristics of the survey participants. Having N = 227 in the table title is misleading. This information should also appear in the text on page 7.

The domains (e.g., Table 3) and how items were assigned to domains need to be explained in the text.

The Table 3 footnote should indicate that the confidence interval is a 95% confidence interval.

I did not have access to any revised supplementary files.
