Title: The advantages of peer review over arbitration for resolving authorship disputes

Version: 0 Date: 20 Jan 2019

Reviewer’s report:

This is welcome contribution to the discussion on the best approaches to solve authorship disputes. I would agree with the authors that there should be less commercial, i.e. less expensive approach to this problem than standard arbitration. The arguments put forward by the authors here are well developed and justified.

Of course it would be best if authorship disputes could be prevented, and there are examples of successful managing of authorship and proposed ways of planning authorship in research.
