Title: Publication and non-publication of clinical trials in PTSD: an overview

Version: 1 Date: 26 Mar 2019

Reviewer: Jigisha Patel

Reviewer's report:

The authors have provided clarification in response to most of my comments. There is still one outstanding point. In my previous review (see point 5.) I asked why, having stated that they excluded observational studies from further analysis because registration of observational studies is voluntary, they performed the comparative statistical analyses between interventional and observational studies presented in tables 1 and 2 (the last two columns). Can the authors clarify their rationale for generating these p values and how they relate to their stated aims of the study?
